

ROLING/HALLS- Done with Construction and Ready to ENJOY 2010!

Volume 1, Issue 1

March 2010

GREETINGS

FRIENDS--- We know it has been a LONG, LONG time since you heard from the Roling/Hall household... here's a rundown of all we've been doing-

Dates we'd love to see you!

During any of the near 80 baseball games we'll sit through this spring & summer—love those double headers!

Shawn-The project coordinator--

has been working for Nationwide Insurance Call Center for nearly a year. We gave prayers of Thanksgiving last spring when he was offered the job after nearly 6 months of no employment, courtesy of the economy. The job is a secure position; however, not challenging for him. Now that he's close to his one year anniversary, he can start applying for other positions within the organization. He has been the planner, coordinator, on-sight manager and held nearly all the "er" roles of building our new business suite off the back of our home. (paint "er", insulat"or", dry wall"er"- you get the idea.)

Michelle-the dreamer/therapist/supervisor-

is speechless about the amazing new space she has to work in at home. "Sharing is Healing" is defiantly a family run business and is a labor of love. She has cut back hours at ISU (still needs to commute for benefits!) and is working more out of the private practice! Mostly seeing eating disordered clients; however, also working with all sorts of other struggles people have through individual, couples, family and group therapy. She LOVES IT!

Alex- 8th grade- 14- got is driving permit- is as involved as EVER- Music: he's the proud new owner of a beautiful tuba (Shawn and mom keep looking in the case to find the steering column and wheels- each month when they make the tuba payment!) He's playing beautifully and has already seen the benefits- I+ ratings & best soloist in his center two years in a row now, SCIBA honor band- then chosen out of that elite group to play in the top 8th grade band in IA this coming May. He was drum major for marching band, loves singing in the choir and had a solo in a piece they sang at the last concert. Is already planning for a trip to FL next spring with the band/choir. Is on student council. Basketball. Baseball (spring, summer and even fall last year). Was confirmed last spring. Is taking advanced course work in both math and science. He just competed on a science bowl team where they built a small solar car.

RIBBON CUTTING

The cheerful? Workers-

through the business suite addition the boys had a hand in: insulating, running electrical wire, roofing, siding, landscaping, painting, trimming... They were defiantly ready for the Christmas morning deadline to get here and whew we made it!

Shade- 5th grade-10 ( 11 next month ) our animal lover showed his pug from his dad 's house to the county fair through 4-h and also tried his hand at photography, citizenship and a home project ( even getting 1 purple ribbon ). He 's playing the "Hall family trumpet " and got a l+ on his first solo. Basketball. Tackle football. Baseball. Uses his creativity by drawing, building legos and telling us stories all the time. Is looking forward to HIS turn to travel to Canada with Grandpa Montang

Caden- 2nd grade- 8 ( 9 next month ) is a sports fanatic- loves playing and watching sports. Flag Football. Baseball. Basketball. Is taking piano lessons from Michelle and plays VERY well for just starting. Is enjoying cub scouts and built his first derby car. Enjoyed a trip with his maternal "grandma Jo " this fall for a week to the east coast to see his cousins. Is excited to be in the advanced math class.
