Media:

- One 12 x 18 inch white drawing paper
- Colored construction paper
- Collage images
- Scissors
- Glue stick

Directive:

- Look through collage materials to find images that express your views of the masculine and feminine parts of yourself.
- Choose some pictures that appeal to you even if you are not sure why; and also choose some that you are certain describe you.
- Try to convey as many masculine and feminine abilities as possible, including traits that are not well developed.
 - Traits are considered not well developed when you are attracted to them but unsure if they fully expressed in yourself
- You might want to put all of the masculine traits on one side of the paper and all of the feminine traits on the other side, or you might find some other configuration that works well.
